

Southwest Media Contact Meeting

Feb. 24, 2009

*Sponsored by the SIEC and the Indiana Department of Education –
Office of Learning Resources*

Are you struggling to juggle the demands of your library program? Do you feel overwhelmed trying to meet all the standards while finding time to catalog new books? In the financially strapped atmosphere that school corporations find themselves in today, you are not alone! For this afternoon meeting, Media Specialist Sue Lanham from Shoals Community Schools and Media Specialist Charity Truelove from Loogootee Community School Corporation will present "The Lone Librarian: Survival and Success." They will discuss the pros and cons of being the only media specialist in a building or for some – in a district. They will share ways to promote literacy, foster collaboration, facilitate instruction, and manage an entire library media program without enough time or help. Participants will be encouraged to share their library situations - and ideas on ways to provide enriching and engaging opportunities for students will be discussed.

Donna Smith from the Office of Learning Resources will present a Department of Education media update and the meeting will provide an opportunity for you to network with other library staff. Phyllis Willis is the host Media Specialist so you will also have a chance to check out the Jasper Middle School Media Center. Registration will begin at 12:30 (Eastern Time) with lunch being provided at 12:45. Please plan to park in the parking lot on the south side of Jasper Middle School.
